POLICY REPORT –just released:

How Well Do State Legislatures Focus on Improving School Efforts to Address Barriers to Learning and Teaching & Re-engage Disconnected Students?

<http://smhp.psych.ucla.edu/pdfdocs/Legisanal.pdf>

As you may recall, our national center at UCLA has been outreaching to Education Committee members in every state legislature.

We have now completed our analysis of education legislation enacted by states. We are circulating the above report's findings and recommendations to legislature Education Committee members in every state and to the over 100,000 other stakeholders on our listservs.

To increase attention to the report and enhance its impact, we hope you will forward it to your elected state representatives and others who you think should be informed.

With respect to other stakeholders, if you prefer that we send the report to them, just provide us with their names and emails.

As always, thanks for your support as we all try to improve how schools address barriers to learning and teaching and re-engage disconnected students.
