

Making the Case for Home Involvement in Schooling Programs

With respect to the priorities you have listed, outline some major points that could be used to make the case for developing these programs.