

What would you add?

Attached is a self-study survey entitled: Support for Transitions. For purposes of this tutorial, just read over the items. These provide a sense of what might take place to welcome and provide social supports for students and families.

After reviewing the items, list below any of those cited and any others you think of that you would want in place at your school.

The survey itself can be used at a school in a number of ways (see the introductory page entitled: "About the Self-Study Process to Enhance the Component for Addressing Barriers to Student Learning").