Teacher Survey Highlights Lack of Basic Student/learning Supports

Findings from the Gallup and Walton Family Foundation indicate that a majority of teachers report a shortage of needed student/learning supports.

Just adding a few more services is not the answer.

Adopting MTSS is not sufficient.

Asking teachers to do more is just not realistic.

Teachers and students need a potent support system.

It's time to end the marginalization of student/learning supports!

It is time to start building a unified, comprehensive, and equitable system for addressing barriers to learning and teaching.
